Carter Engages In Six-Minute Debate On Iran Oil Exporting

By JAMES GERSTENZANG
Associated Press Writer

HANNIBAL, Mo. (AP) — President Carter engaged in a six-minute debate at 5 a.m. today with an auto worker who vigorously disagreed with Carter's decision to permit the export of American oil products to Iran.

"What we don't understand is why the Ayatollah Khomeini is doing this to the people over there, executing them, and more or less we are condoning it?" the man asked Carter. The dialogue occurred as the Delta Queen steamboat stopped at Lock 21 on the Mississippi River near Quincy, Ill., a few miles from Hannibal.

Carter defended his decision to permit the sale of an estimated $47 million worth of kerosene and diesel fuel, saying "They ship us one and one-half million barrels of oil every day."

Carter encountered his debating partner on the way to spending several hours sightseeing in Hannibal, hometown of Samuel Clemens and his literary creation, Tom Sawyer.

The unidentified man who questioned Carter was part of a crowd of about 300 people who greeted Carter when he climbed overboard shortly before 5 a.m. and began shaking hands.

He told the president his Iranian brother-in-law who worked for Bell Helicopter in Iran had just been released from prison there.

Before approving the sale of U.S. refined oil products, the man demanded to know, "Why couldn't we get a reasonable assurance that they would take care of human rights over there?"

"All we had to do was get an assurance that they would start analyzing this and not treating people rotten because they were dealing with Americans."

In the midst of the badgering, Carter calmed the man down enough to say,

"you won't let me answer your question."

Referring to Khomeini, the Iranian ruler, Carter said: "I don't approve of his government but the fact is that they ship us about one and one-half million barrels of oil every day. One time they asked us to send them a million barrels back."

Carter explained that the United States receives 50 million barrels of oil a month from Iran and that they had requested, due to sabotage of a refinery, one shipment of kerosene.

Asked the president: "You want me to tell them (the Iranians), 'Don't ship us any oil?'"

Someone in the audience said, "Maybe we'd be better off if they didn't."

Carter, in a clearly sarcastic tone of voice, replied: "Maybe so, we can do without it."

The man finally conceded that Carter's decision was "reasonable" but he still asked why Carter couldn't win at least a "worthless assurance that they will look into some of their human rights violations."

As the debate ended, one of the man's companions called out to the president, "I think you're doing a hell of a good job."

Secret Service agents calmly watched the debate.

Today's activities mark the next to the last scheduled stop on the first family's seven-day cruise down the Mississippi on the sternwheeler Delta Queen.

Late Wednesday, during a stop at a lock, Carter noted the entire lock and dam system on the Mississippi River produces only 165 megawatts of electricity, compared to an Army Corps of Engineers estimate that it could produce 2,400 megawatts.

Subcommittee Studies Bill For State Compensation

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — A legislative subcommittee has begun a study of a bill draft that would create a state workmen's compensation insurance fund.

State Sen. James Hammond, D-Prestonsburg, chairman of the Interim Joint Labor and Industry Committee's subcommittee on workmen's compensation, said that the bill could become part of a legislative package aimed at lowering premiums and raising worker benefits.

Kentucky reportedly has one of the lowest benefit levels and highest workmen's compensation rates in the nation, ranking 14th in high cost of premiums and 42nd in benefits.

The subcommittee heard testimony Wednesday from representatives of six state funds on the feasibility of initiating a state fund in Kentucky.

The commonwealth does not have a state workmen's compensation fund or insurance provider. Employers can comply with state requirements through self-insurance, group self-insurance or private insurance.

Self-insured employers are those who have the ability to directly pay workmen's compensation benefits, while group self insurance means two or more employers pool their liabilities.

Feay-Burton Smith, representing Colorado's state workmen's compensation fund, said he thought it would be possible for Kentucky to begin a state fund with General Fund money, then reimburse the state treasury for that amount.

Smith said Colorado was given $5,000 to begin its state fund in 1915, but because of mandatory participation by state agencies, never used it.

In response to questions about allegations that some state funds are operating at a near-bankrupt level, spokesmen for the state funds represented at the meeting said theirs were self-supporting.

Dan Blizzard, representing the West Virginia fund, said the state has invested its premiums so that more than $1.10 in benefits can be returned for every $1 in premiums. Benefits for older workers have been substantially upgraded, he said.

Also represented were New York, Oregon, Montana and Nevada.

Hammond said he favors a state insurance fund that would compete with industry, thereby bringing rates down.

The subcommittee is scheduled to meet next week to review legislative proposals, including the state fund bill draft.

Press secretary Jody Powell said the White House would issue a statement today detailing Carter's plans to use an executive order to increase power production along the river.

The president did not have to leave the boat today to encounter a character out of Mark Twain, the name under which Clemens wrote.

Up in the wheelhouse reigns pilot C.S. Ware, who has worked on the river all but 17 of his 66 years.

Ware was in his high, cushioned chair Tuesday afternoon when the Delta Queen ran smack into a 30-minute squall that briefly packed winds of almost 70 miles an hour and driving sheets of rain.

"Rain or shine or sleet or snow, the Delta Queen she's got to go," sang out Ware, who swung the boat into a cove to drive the rocking vessel out of the brunt of the storm.

Carter, in the wheelhouse for most of the storm, later congratulated Capt. Fred Martin for a job "well done."

The storm sent the steamboat's crystal chandeliers swinging over the grand staircase, tossed aluminum deck chairs about like doll house furniture and left the presidential flag flying in tatters atop the front mast.

Martin called the storm, which had winds approaching hurricane force, "very serious," but said he had encountered a similar one last fall.

The sternwheeler's control mechanism — two steering rods instead of a wheel — and digital depth finder would look like magic to Twain, a sternwheeler pilot himself in his early years.

In calmer waters, Ware recalled his days as a deckhand, when depths were taken — as they were in Twain's pre-Civil War days on the "father of waters" — by a deckhand who threw a marked lead line overboard and called out the readings.

"Them old pilots wanted you to sing to them and sometimes they'd forget about you and you'd holler and holler. 'I'd do a lot of dry leadin'," he said, remembering the practice of calling out depths without actually tossing the line into the water.

Depot

Mover To Proceed With Park Relocation

By DEBBIE N. LEE
Staff Reporter

The old L & N Railroad depot may soon find a new home in the Murray-Calloway County Park after months of controversy concerning the movement process. The first section of the structure is scheduled to be moved Friday or Monday.

Members of the parks board voted 6-1 with one abstention Wednesday afternoon to go ahead with the previous plans to move the facility from its present location on Railroad Avenue to the park. The vote was taken in a special called meeting held at the depot.

At the board's last regular meeting on Aug. 12, the members voted to notify the mover, M. C. Ruggles House Moving Contractors of Benton, that they were no longer interested in moving the structure since the deadline was nearing on a grant the board received to help fund the move.

Following that meeting, Marshall Jones, a member of the city council, A. W. Simmons Jr. and representatives of the Murray-Calloway County Community Theatre met with Mayor Melvin B. Henley to see if there was still a possibility that Ruggles could move the depot before the expiration of the grant. The mover was contacted and he agreed to proceed with the move.

Ruggles contracted with the board for $7,000 last year to move the depot by Nov. 30, 1978. Although the company did preliminary work in November on cutting the 37-by-200 foot depot into three sections to facilitate moving, it still remains on its original site.

Following Ruggles' failure to move the structure by the designated date, an extension was granted on the expiration date of the $24,000 Bureau of Outdoor Recreation matching grant. The extension expires Dec. 31, 1979.

Several parks board members stated at the Aug. 12 meeting that they felt no more extensions would be granted.

Ruggles came to the special meeting Wednesday and told the board that he was now ready to proceed with the move and would be checking today into the moving of electric and telephone lines during the relocation process.

The foundation for the depot relocation has been laid at the park. The depot, which was sold to the city by L & N for $1, will be placed at the north end of the park near the swimming pool area.

Plans call for the depot to house a park office, as well as headquarters for the Community Theatre, the organization primarily interested in the use of the facility, and an indoor area for theatre productions. The building also contains a large open area which will be utilized by both the Community Theatre group and the public.

An agreement reached in March between the parks board and the Community Theatre stipulates that the parks board will be responsible for the area utilized by the park for office space, as well as the open area. The Community Theatre will be responsible for its area. Each agency will pay for its own utilities.

Bomb Hoax Aids Man In Hijacking United 727

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — A man pretending to carry a bomb hijacked a United Airlines 727 carrying 119 persons from Portland to Los Angeles and forced the plane to return to Portland, where he surrendered early today, the FBI said.

All 112 passengers and seven crew members left the aircraft unharmed, the FBI said.

The man gave himself up at 2:25 a.m. PDT and was taken into custody by the FBI who identified the suspect as James R. Allbee, 26, of Portland.

The airport bomb squad opened the package he said was an explosive device and confirmed it was not a bomb. Authorities did not reveal the contents of the package.

"The only demand that has been made is that the man wanted to come back to Portland," said FBI spokesman Bill Williams.

Williams said that the case would be turned over to the U.S. attorney's office and that Allbee would arraigned later today before a U.S. magistrate.

He said the FBI would have no comment on a possible motive for the hijacking except to say "you can be assured it was not a terrorist act or anything of that nature."

Negotiations were conducted over the aircraft's radio, Williams said.

Several hours earlier, an explosive device and an extortion note directed to United were found at the Portland International Airport, but authorities said it did not appear the two incidents were related. That device was defused.

without incident.

Allbee was involved in a 1975 extortion case and during the hijack episode asked to see Portland Police Lt. Rob Aichele, one of the officers who dealt with Allbee at that time, Williams said.

Allbee was charged with extortion after the 1975 incident in which a man asked $50,000 in connection with a threat to bomb Portland Adventist Hospital, according to news reports at the time. The outcome of the case was not known immediately.

Wednesday's incident began after UAL Flight 739 departed Portland for Los Angeles at 9 p.m. PDT Wednesday. At 10:38 p.m., one of the passengers told the cockpit crew that he had a bomb on board, San Francisco authorities said.

Rita Rouille of Los Angeles, a passenger, said during the flight she was two seats away from the man she later learned was the alleged hijacker.

Ms. Rouille said the man had a black overnight bag which he kept under his seat. Just before reaching San Francisco, the man took the bag and went to the front of the plane, she said.

"I saw this gentleman walking up to the front of the plane with his suitcase...he squinted his eyes and kind of looked at me sideways," Ms. Rouille said.

The plane landed 10 minutes later in San Francisco International Airport to refuel before returning to Portland. It touched down in Portland at 1:13 a.m. PDT today and was directed to an area that had been cordoned off.

President Urges Ex-Attorney General Not To Join In Suit

LOS ANGELES (AP) — President Carter urged former Attorney General Griffin Bell not to join in a controversial anti-trust suit against the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries, the judge in the case has said from the bench.

U.S. District Court Judge A. Andrew Hauk, who is to hear final arguments today, disclosed Wednesday he had discussed the case with Bell during a chance meeting at Palm Springs, Calif. He said Bell called the case "hot potatoes."

"I wanted amicus curiae (friend-of-the-court) briefs from the State Department, Energy Department and the Treasury Department on this sort of thing," the judge declared.

"I even asked the attorney general at Palm Springs. I said, 'Mr. attorney general,' and he said, 'Call me Griff.' 'Griff,' I said, 'Why didn't you file a brief in this case?' Hauk recalled. He said, 'You got hot potatoes on your hands...'"

Rainey's Day

By RAINEY APPERSON

A continuous stream from up north flows daily down to Florida, but Mike and Debbie Keller, decided to do it the other way around.

The Kellers were living in the Tampa, Florida area, where Mike worked as a CPA. About a month ago Mike and Debbie, and young son, Nathan, moved up here to Murray. A graduate of Murray High and Murray State University, Mike has opened his own CPA office and all of the Don Keller family is delighted to have them back home. Right now the Mike Kellers are living with his parents on College Farm Road, and he also has his office there.

What a tourist attraction Opryland, in Nashville is. The Opryland Hotel has to be one of the most gorgeous hotels in the country, done in the old south tradition. The brass chandelier, hanging in the tremendous entrance hall is an art object to behold.

The musical talent that abounds in the Opryland shows takes your breath away. If you go, don't miss The Show Boat or the new show in the Roy Acuff Theatre, or the famous Country and Western Music Show. Opryland attracts college students from all over the country, who are trying to break into show business.

The last of August and the first part of September is when all of our college students are going back to school. The largest part attend Murray State, but University of Kentucky, Vanderbilt and Western receive their share of Calloway Countians.

Also, don't forget Murray High Football this Friday night, at Russellville. Come on, you boosters, let's cheer this team on this year.

Speaking of Murray High, Billie (Mrs. Vernon) Cohoon, was lamenting the fact this week, that this is the first time in twenty-five years, she and Vernon haven't had a student in Murray High School at some time or another.

I was reading this article recently that points its finger at us housewives — the article accused us of being the worst gas wasters in the nation.

It pointed out that we drive our children to school, one by one, run out, and run one errand, come home, do around at home a bit, then pick up the children, run them around all over town.

The writer suggested that we housewives try to combine a few trips and save a gallon or two of gas.

Murray's loss is Lexington's gain — Janice Austin and her family, Brent, Jill, and the twins, Mark and Paul, are getting settled in the Blue Grass.

Mark and Paul will be sophomores at Tate's Creek High School, Jill will be returning to Centre College at Danville, as a sophomore, and Brent will be enrolling at the University of Kentucky.

They will be sorely missed in our community and we wish them well.

Celebration Will Be At Oak Grove

Mr. and Mrs. Clay Jones

Mr. and Mrs. Clay Jones of Benton Route 1 will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary with a reception given by their children and grandchildren in the fellowship hall of the Oak Grove Cumberland Presbyterian Church on Sunday, Sept. 2.

All friends and relatives are invited to call during the hours of 2 to 4 p.m. Only out of town invitations are being sent. The couple requests that guests not bring gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones were married Aug. 29, 1929, in Paris, Tenn., with the Rev. D. J. Spaulding officiating. Their attendants were the late Noah Lovett and Laurine Cathey Sheppard, niece of the bride.

Mrs. Jones, the former Treva Jones, the daughter of the late Bolin and Annie Puckett Jones, is retired from the Merit Clothing Company, Mayfield.

Mr. Jones, the son of the late Dock and Alice Anderson Jones, is retired from farming and the Marshall County Road Department.

They are the parents of two children, Mrs. J. D. (Anna) Usrey of Benton Route 1 and Dr. Henry Earl Jones of Atlanta, Ga. Their six grandchildren are Mrs. Ronnie (Esther) Ford, Bruce Usrey, Vanessa Usrey, Greg Jones, Laronda Jones, and Tamara Jones. Their two great grandchildren are Crystal and Heather Ford.

HEALTH

Elevated cholesterol

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I'm a 41-year-old male and I've not had any history of heart disease but a lot of my close relatives on my father's side, including my father, have had heart disease.

I'm 5 feet 10 and weigh 160 pounds and engage in a vigorous jogging program. My blood pressure is normal and I'm non-diabetic. My problem has been consistent elevated cholesterol levels and occasionally high triglyceride readings despite periodic low-fat diets. During the past five years my lowest cholesterol count has been 265 and the highest has been 338 which was my most recent test. At what approximate level might drug therapy be called for and what, if any, are the risks associated with this type of therapy?

DEAR READER — You're wise to take preventive measures now, particularly if you have a strong family history of early heart disease. Your elevated cholesterol levels may increase your risk of having a heart attack about three times what it would be if it were completely normal. The three main factors that people can do something about that influence whether you're going to have a heart attack or not really are the elevated cholesterol level, cigarette smoking and elevated blood pressure.

When all three of these risk factors are increased in a young man, it may increase his likelihood of having a heart attack to 38 times what it would be if these risk factors were simply normal.

To give you more information on the risk factors, I'm sending you The Health Letter number 13-2, How To Measure Your Risk Of Heart Disease. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents in check or coin with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

As you can see from The Health Letter I'm sending you, office determinations of cholesterol aren't always the same as the values used from research studies. Even so, by any measure, your recent test of 338 is too high. If that is an accurate indication of your level of cholesterol, it would be to your advantage to lower it. It seems like almost every medicine to lower cholesterol ends up having side effects. That's why I've always plugged heavily for altering one's life style rather than using medicines when possible.

That 160 pounds may mean you're too fat. You can have a better idea by seeing if there are any significant fat deposits under your skin around your waist. Those last five to 10 pounds can be very important. Individuals who do get into trouble with "vigorous jogging" are those who try to run too fast or do too much. The risk factors correlate very well with the amount of disease that's in the coronary arteries. Individuals who want to exercise should pay more attention to their risk factors. I'm also sending you The Health Letter number 13-4, A Perspective On Jogging Deaths. (Available to other readers who send 75 cents with a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Of course, I assume that you do not smoke. If you do, you should stop at once.

Programs Presented

At Westview, Fern Terrace By WMU

The Poplar Spring Baptist Church WMU presented special singing programs for the patients at the Westview Nursing Home and the residents of Fern Terrace Lodge for the month of July.

Mrs. Louise Short played the piano for the singers who were Cloia Campbell, Etta Dick, Otis Lovins, Lois Smith, Mildred Thompson, Ruby Fannin, Sally Van Natter, Earl Van Natter, the Rev. Romie Adams, Freida Adams, Cris Adams, Laurene McCuiston, Clayborne McCuiston, Kay Taylor, Pam Cherry, Sue Campbell, Fronie Hammon, Jim Hammon, Guy Dunn, Flossie Byerly, Glenda Byerly, and Murial Wright. The devotional messages were given by the Rev. Adams. Special prayer was led by Earl Van Natter.

At Eva Wall Picnic

Laura Jennings directed the program on "Bangladesh" at the picnic meeting of the Eva Wall Group of the Memorial Baptist Church Women held on Tuesday, July 24, at 10:30 a.m. at the Murray-Calloway County Park.

Each member present took part in the discussion. The call to prayer was by Mae Foster who also read scripture from John 3. Prayers were led by Mrs. Foster and Modelle Miller for the missionaries having birthdays on that date.

Connie White told of the needs for the Oneida Institute. The group voted to send $25 each quarter starting in September. Mrs. White led the closing prayer.

Box chicken lunches with cold drinks were served at noon. Others present were Verna Mae Stubblefield, Lalah Boyd, Opal Reeves, Dot Danner, Willie Garland, Geneva Belcher, and Nettie McKeel.

Huie-Nelson Vows To Be Solemnized

Miss Donna Huie and Ronnie Nelson

Bill Huie of Murray and Mrs. Jim Higgins of Louisville announce the approaching marriage of their youngest daughter, Miss Denisa Huie, to Ronnie Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Nelson of Hardin.

The bride-elect is a student at Murray State University where she is majoring in radio and television and minoring in advertising.

Mr. Nelson is employed at Miller Auto Parts in Benton. The wedding will take place on Saturday, Sept. 1, at the home of the groom-elect's parents.

Dear Abby
By Abigail Van Buren

Dotted Line Is Bottom Line

DEAR ABBY: Many couples who live together without marriage say, "We don't need a piece of paper to make our commitment binding. A piece of paper doesn't mean a thing!"

May I point out that when a person buys an automobile he had better have that "piece of paper" or he could be in a lot of trouble.

Also, a driver's license is just "a piece of paper," but you'd better not be caught driving without it.

And when a person buys a home, or any other piece of property, he makes sure he has that "piece of paper."

And when a person graduates from high school, college or a trade school, that "piece of paper" can make the difference between getting a job and not getting one.

We live our lives with pieces of paper, beginning with a birth certificate and ending with a death certificate. And let's not forget the Will — another very important piece of paper.

So when I hear people say, "A piece of paper doesn't mean a thing," I'm reminded of the classic old adage: "Ignorance is bliss."

PAPER IS PROOF

DEAR PAPER: Granted, written documentation makes life immeasurably less complicated, but common-law marriages have been recognized as legal and binding for a long time in some states.

Forgive my pickiness, but the "classic old adage" you refer to is not "ignorance is bliss." It's "Where ignorance is bliss, 'tis folly to be wise." ("Ode on a Distant Prospect of Eton College" by Thomas Gray.)

DEAR ABBY: I feel like a silly adolescent writing to you about this, but I've always respected your advice.

I'm a 26-year-old woman, never married, who is currently dating a man my age who is in the same boat.

I care about him, but here's the problem. He doesn't kiss very well. To be honest about it, the man just doesn't know how to kiss at all.

Please don't tell me to talk to him about it. I just couldn't. I'm afraid his feelings might be hurt and I'd never see him again. I am very much attracted to him and, given a chance, I think we might be good for each other. Please help.

FRUSTRATED

DEAR FRUSTRATED: You need not tell him anything. Show him by kissing him the way you want to be kissed. Unless he's a total lummox, he'll catch on.

DEAR ABBY: There is a great deal of controversy in my family as to the proper terminology of the following: When the bride enters the church to meet the groom, is she walking UP the aisle? Or is she walking DOWN the aisle?

CONFUSED IN LIVERPOOL, N.Y.

DEAR CONFUSED: She is walking DOWN the aisle. After the ceremony she walks UP the aisle.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "YOUNG PHILOSOPHER IN KODIAK, ALASKA": To quote an ancient philosopher, Buddha: "Believe nothing, no matter where you read it, or who said it, no matter if I have said it, unless it agrees with your own reason and your own common sense."

Getting married? Whether you want a formal church wedding or a simple do-your-own-thing ceremony, get Abby's new booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding." Send $1 and a long, stamped (28 cents) self-addressed envelope to Abby: 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Mike Brun Speaker, Meet, At Goshen Methodist Church

The Goshen United Methodist Church Women heard a special program by Mike and Pat Brun at the recent meeting held at the church.

Mike Brun related his story of how he came to the United States. He was born in Rumania and forced out by World War II. When his family left their home, they traveled through Rumania and Hungary and ended up staying in Austria for a short time.

Throughout their journey, Brun said they encountered many hardships, one of which was trying to stay ahead of the progression of the war. When the family had the opportunity, they came to America and settled in Spring City, Tenn., nearly 30 years ago.

In 1977, he and his wife, Pat, visited his former home in Rumania and many places he and his family had visited in their travels.

The speaker was introduced by Jo Reeder, progra chairman. Anna Wright read a poem entitled "God Bless America."

Glenda Wilson, president, presided and welcomed the members, husbands, and guests.

Refreshments were served by Mary Alice Humphries.

High Marks

The thousands of Kentucky children trooping back to school this month will have a tough act to follow: their own. Last year all Kentucky public school students in four grades were tested in basic learning skills.

They did quite well. Nationally 77 per cent of students scored average or above on the tests. Kentucky students in the third, seventh and 10th grades beat that mark in eight of nine subjects. Kentucky fifth graders did even better. They beat the average mark in all nine projects.

The test results suggest children — and taxpayers — are getting some benefits from the increased spending on education that has been a priority of Gov. Julian Carroll's administration.

Kentucky long had languished at near the bottom of the barrel in per capita spending on primary and secondary education. In recent years, that has changed for the better.

In 1978 the General Assembly decided to find out what taxpayers were getting for their money and ordered that standardized tests to be given to four grades of school children every year.

The first year's results were good, but some educators worry that record may be hard to maintain.

They point out that many other states have started similar programs, and that will push up the nationwide averages.

"We can't expect Kentucky students to keep outdoing the nation," Don Van Fleet, an official of the state Department of Education, said recently.

Why can't we? Competition provides an incentive to excel. That incentive largely has been lacking in the public school system.

Standardized test results, of course, should not be the only benchmark of a school's performance. But it is a useful one.

And there's no reason why this year's crop of school children shouldn't better last year's record.

Campaigns Heating Up

FRANKFORT — In the middle of dog days last week, the political campaign for governor began to heat up with both candidates trying to establish some campaign issues.

Kentucky Fried Chicken king John Young Brown Jr. came out swinging at Republican Louie B. Nunn who is seeking to become governor again after serving a four-year term from 1967-71. Brown is making his first venture into Kentucky politics although his family name has been prominent in the state for many years.

Brown attacked Nunn's record on education and says it is now time for the state to have a businessman as governor.

The Republicans launched a series of speeches across the state last week to reveal Nunn's program and a 'profile' of Brown, the man.

Both parties have been busy in past weeks trying to perfect their organizations across the state, but last week signaled the start of the campaign that is likely to become bitter and confused in the weeks to come. This won't be unusual for Kentucky where personalities often provoke more oratory than constructive campaign issues or programs.

While Democrats outnumber Republicans by 2 to 1 in voter registration, this campaign is marred by a federal investigation of the present Democrat administration.

Brown has said publicly that he doesn't want anyone involved in the grand jury investigation associated with his campaign. This is a broad sweep that involves many in Gov. Julian Carroll's administration and the past administration of Democrat Gov. Wendell H. Ford. The calling of a witness before the grand jury does not mean that the witness is involved as a target of the investigation. Many are called just to give information.

Brown's statement, divorcing his campaign from these people, has caused a lot of consternation among Democrats, particularly those who have been prominent in campaigns of the past.

Gov. Carroll supported Terry McBrayer, a former legislator and political leader, who ran third in the Democrat primary. Brown's forces, according to word in party circles, has not sought support of his four major opponents he defeated in the primary. He had his own organization in the primary and seems at the moment not being interested in pulling in the old pros from the other primary candidates. Republicans have named their effort started last week "Operation Undercover," Chapter 1. The Republicans claim their revelations will be backed up by newspaper stories of the past and public records.

Brown's forces have been denying such reports and have not made any personal attacks against Nunn.

Both candidates are stressing the importance of coal to the economy of the nation and particularly affecting Kentucky. They have both said they will rewrite the state's workmen's compensation laws and make education and health principal parts of their future administrations.

When Nunn became governor, he found it necessary to boost Kentucky's sales tax from 3 to 5 percent to avoid a deficit. Since that the tax has been repealed on prescription drugs and take home groceries.

Writers of letters to the editors harp about Nunn's nickel (the sales tax) but they never mention that Democrat Bert Combs started the sales tax with 3 percent. They also fail to mention the Democrats have been in office eight years and haven't repealed the tax.

Truth of the matter is, the sales tax is one of the largest producers revenue in the state's tax structure. The growth features of this tax enabled elimination of prescription drugs and take home groceries from the tax.

It might be interesting for the voters to note that several of the appointive officers of the Carroll administration are taking other jobs and that many others are mailing out their resumes to seek employment elsewhere. They know they are going to go, regardless of who is elected. They had a chance to stay if McBrayer had won the Democrat nomination.

Seasoned political observers seem to agree the governorship will be won between now and October 1 although the election isn't until November 6.

It's a contest between a newcomer to politics and a former governor.

Garrott's Galley

By M. C. Garrott

You've Gotta Get Your Feet Wet If You're Gonna Load Your Boat

Bill Zambella is a courageous, patient and understanding man. He has to be to do what he did a couple weeks ago when he went to Martin, Tenn., with the Murray High School Tiger band and stayed the entire week!

When you look closer, however, you realize that Bill takes such duty in stride, being a retired, 20-year Army veteran and no stranger to all kinds of unusual and boisterous situations.

He and his wife, the former LeVie Jean Murphy of Murray, have opened their home to seven foster children during the past 10 years, two of whom are with them now, Carl and Tommy Doolin from Eastern Kentucky. Tony, an adopted son, plays baritone in the Murray band, which explains Bill's week-long stay at the band's annual camp.

LeVie is secretary to Danny Roberts and me at Murray State. She met Bill in 1966 when he was stationed at Fort Campbell. After four years in Germany and six in Louisville, they moved to Murray a couple years ago.

When he isn't tending his beloved roses, or taking two-hour coffee breaks "with the fellows" at Trenholm's, Bill is deeply involved in some kind of a program at Memorial Baptist or simply being a good father to their foster children.

Bill, whose birthday was yesterday, had a good record in the Army before being medically discharged. He also was a well-known square dance caller, and even produced a square dancing record in 1975.

In fact, it was at a Fort Campbell square dance that he met LeVie, whose parents, T. J. and Cordie (Barrow) Murphy, live at 1206 Peggy Ann Drive. She had gone over there with a sister who kept insisting that she learn square dancing, when the caller, Bill, turned out to be her future husband.

Bill is good with kids, raises beautiful roses, is an interesting conversationalist and still is keenly interested in square dancing, but he is the first to admit that he is no Navy man. If he has a short side, it has to be his boatmanship.

Nothing reflects this more than his aborted effort some weeks ago to return a boat to its trailer hooked to his '52 Chevrolet pickup after taking LeVie and his visiting sister, Doris Moore of Portsmouth, Va., for an afternoon ride on Kentucky Lake.

All was going well at first with Bill standing on the trailer and his sister attempting to guide the boat onto it despite some rough water kicked up by an inconsiderate jerk revving his engine periodically nearby.

After his sister had made several unsuccessful runs at the trailer, Bill called to Tony, who was in the truck with his foot on the brake, to get out and help with the boat. They "scotched" the truck with a big rock, but before LeVie could get out of the boat and into the truck to again brake it, the ancient vehicle slipped its gears and began to roll backwards into the lake.

Bill, apparently believing the truck would stop of its own accord, simply backed down the Wildcat Creek ramp with it, while, Tony, with visions of Superman, tried bodily but futilely to hold it back. As the four of them watched helplessly, the truck rolled into the lake and came to rest with the water up to its windshield.

A wrecker was called, the truck recovered and towed to a relative's boat shop, but not before Bill had fielded a barrage of the usual questions and kidding.

While waiting for the wrecker, one passerby asked him what had happened, to which Bill replied, "I had started over there to Grayson McClure's and this is as far as the old truck would make it." The questioner's response was an unbelievable, "Really?"

The real jolter, however, came just about dark after they had gone back to the lake to get the boat and trailer.

While in this process and, as before, still not wishing to get his feet wet, Bill again was standing on the trailer trying to guide the boat onto it. After several unsuccessful runs at it, he muttered angrily, "Well, I guess the only way to do this is to get in with both feet and get wet."

Nearby was a fellow busily loading a sailboat on a trailer. He overheard Bill's declaration. "You should have been here earlier this afternoon," he laughed, "and seen some dummy who didn't want to get his feet wet let his truck and trailer roll back into the lake!"

It was a steely pair of eyes that Bill turned on this fellow as he politely but firmly informed him that he was that "dummy." Within a matter of minutes, the fellow had his sailboat loaded, secured and got out of there.

But that's why Bill's old pickup — all cleaned up again and sporting a new battery — can be seen around town displaying a bumper sticker proclaiming it to be "Zambella's Amphibious Chevy."

Letters To The Editor

Make It Correct

Dear Editor:

May I commend you highly on your editorial "One English" your sentence, English is English and should be taught as such," should hang in every classroom.

As a retired teacher, I know that only in the classroom can the transition from any type of broken English to standard English be made. The teacher can accomplish this transition only if she has backing, not opposition.

When we read the Declaration of Independence, the constitution, the Gettysburg Address or any other beautifully written and well-phrased document, we realize the power and scope of the English language. This must not be lost and will not be lost if the schools are allowed to teach our language in its purity and dignity.

I am sure the judge who rendered this decision would expect the public school to weed out "ain't," "I done," "I have went," "I seen" from the vocabulary of children. However, by his standards, miss-used verbs might also be considered dialect since they also occur in a large group of homogeneous (i.e. uneducated) people. The examples you gave also belong there.

Rather than laissez faire, the attitude of America toward her language should be "make it correct."

Sincerely,
Anne Wood

Proposed Amendment To Give Legislators More Preparation

By MARIA BRADEN
Associated Press Writer
FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — A legislative subcommittee has said a proposed constitutional amendment to give legislators more time to prepare for legislative sessions would also give them more control over the state budget.

The amendment, which would change the date of legislative elections from odd- to even-numbered years, will be on the ballot this November.

The Subcommittee on Legislative Effectiveness voted unanimously Wednesday to urge its parent committee, the Interim Joint State Government Committee, to support the amendment.

The subcommittee is studying ways to increase the legislative role in formulating and controlling the state budget.

"The Legislature is, as everyone knows, the weak sister of the three branches of government," said Sen. Eugene Stuart, R-Louisville. "I don't say we need to control the whole show, but we need more control of the budgetary process."

Currently, legislators are elected in odd-numbered years less than two months before regular sessions of the General Assembly begin. Most never see the proposed state budget until the governor submits it midway through the session. The budget bill itself is so complex that — apart from the House Appropriations and Revenue Committee — few lawmakers ever study it thoroughly before they vote.

Under the proposed constitutional amendment, a 10-day organizational session would be held during the year following the election to elect legislative leaders, adopt rules and make committee assignments. The regular 60-day session would begin in January of the next year.

Legislative sessions would be extended until April 15, allowing each chamber to recess during the session so long as they meet for 60 days.

Kentucky Chamber of Commerce President Philip Thompson said it would mean that legislative leaders are elected prior to a gubernatorial primary election — and thereby independently of a governor's wishes.

Subcommittee chairman Rep. Bill Weinberg, D-Hindman, said the amendment, in conjunction with some internal rules changes, could make it possible for the General Assembly to override a governor's veto.

Under the current setup, a governor has 10 days in which to veto legislation — usually after the legislature has adjourned.

The subcommittee also recommended that legislators who are not members of the Appropriations and Revenue Committee be allowed to serve as non-voting members, with pay, on one of A&R's budget review subcommittees, as a way of getting other members of the legislature interested in the budget.

The subcommittee asked its staff to study a number of other budget-related issues, such as whether there should be changes in the way agencies provide budget information to legislators, and whether further controls are necessary to ensure that state funds are spent the way legislators intended.

The committee's discussion was based on several suggestions submitted at its request by Appropriation and Revenue Chairman Rep. Joe Clarke, D-Danville.

Hearing Scheduled To Challenge Legality Of State Government Probe

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — A hearing is scheduled next Wednesday in federal court here on motions that challenge the legality of a special federal grand jury investigating alleged corruption in state government.

The motions, to be heard by U.S. District Judge Bernard T. Moynahan Jr., were filed in the name of James Paul Ison, an insurance agent in West Liberty whose records of dealings with state government have been subpoenaed by the grand jury.

The motions filed in federal court include a claim that the grand jury was illegally empaneled, while another seeks to quash the subpoena on Fifth Amendment guarantees against self-incrimination.

The latter motion states that the government "has reason to believe a crime may have been committed, and, if they are correct, then compelling (Ison) to produce the records that he made or owns... would no doubt force him to testify against himself."

According to state records, Ison's agency received $149,485 from state agencies in the four fiscal years ending June 30, 1979. The agency was paid $42,824 in fiscal 1979.

At Least 500 Sent Home On First Day Of School For No Immunization Proof

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — A Fayette County school official said at least 500 pupils were sent home on the first day of school because they had no proof of immunization.

Approximately 1,100 high school pupils were absent Monday, said Clarence Musgrave, director of guidance services.

Depending on how many of those were ordered to return home, the figure "could go much higher," Musgrave said.

Change In Desire Could Force Doctors Not To Accept Requests

By DANIEL Q. HANEY
Associated Press Writer
BOSTON (AP) — Doctors should be reluctant to accept the requests of sick persons for "death with dignity," because their desire to die may change, be based on needless fears or be a quest for attention, two physicians say.

In recent years, doctors have paid increasing attention to patients' wishes for quiet death as the development of respirators and other advances allowed them to keep people alive long after they lost consciousness.

A team of physicians who treat people with bad burns recently recommended that patients be allowed to make life-and-death decisions, because "who is more likely to be totally and lovingly concerned with the patients' best interests than the patient himself?"

Now, two Cleveland doctors say this view "may be somewhat naive and, in certain clinical situations, potentially dangerous."

In today's New England Journal of Medicine, the doctors said that before pulling the plug, doctors should make sure the patient who seeks death really means what he says.

"Physicians who are uncomfortable or inexperienced in dealing with the complex psycho-social issues facing critically ill patients may ignore an important aspect of their professional responsibility by taking a patient's statement at face value without further exploration or clarification," they wrote.

The doctors, David L. Jackson and Stuart Younger, described six cases they encountered in the intensive care unit at University Hospitals of Cleveland.

In one case, an 80-year-old man with lung disease at first said he did not want to be kept alive by a respirator. However, later, he changed his mind several times. The case, they said, shows that "one must be cautious not to act precipitously on the side of the patient's ambivalence with which one agrees, while piously claiming to be following the principle of patient autonomy."

In another case, a 52-year-old man with multiple sclerosis said he did not want doctors to try to save him if he developed serious complications. However, he later admitted he was upset with his family for not paying attention to him.

An 18-year-old woman with chronic asthma resisted treatment with a respirator. But after she was questioned by doctors, she said she was afraid of the hospital equipment. Her fears were calmed and she was discharged eight days later.

A 56-year-old woman with cancer urged doctors to do all they could to help her because she wanted to live long enough to see the birth of her first grandchild. When her condition worsened and she lost consciousness, her family asked that treatment be stopped. But the doctors refused, and the woman recovered enough to go home and see the child.

UK Medical Center To Continue Transporting Babies To Other Hospitals

By CHARLES WOLFE
Associated Press Writer
LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — The University of Kentucky Medical Center will resume transporting critically ill infants to other hospitals when its neonatal care unit lacks the beds to accommodate them.

But the medical center's chief administrator says problems will continue until expansion of the neonatal unit — already one year behind schedule — is completed.

"Ninety days would be the most optimistic schedule" for resumption of full transport services, Dr. Peter Bosomworth, UK vice president for health affairs, said Wednesday in a press conference.

Bosomworth said that, because of "a breakdown in communications," he was unaware that the hospital curtailed transport services in April. Because of staff costs, emergency vehicles were being dispatched only for ill infants UK could admit.

"About one third of the infants for whom calls were made to the university were going somewhere else" when the program began, Bosomworth said.

The press conference was called after a newspaper report detailed the deaths last month of two infants whom UK could not admit.

The Courier-Journal in Louisville said in its Wednesday editions the infants were born prematurely in Manchester and Richmond. One died before an emergency team dispatched in the middle of the night from the University of Cincinnati could reach it. The other died shortly after reaching Cincinnati.

"I think the story reflects essentially the circumstances that have existed here up to this point," Bosomworth said. The number of infants turned away from UK has been cut sharply, he said, but still averages more than one infant per week.

The expansion project eventually will give UK 45 beds for critically ill infants. But Bosomworth said the project is behind schedule because UK underestimated the cost of its current phase — to 39 beds from 31 — by 30 percent.

"Various agencies involved with approvals must be reconsulted when that happens," Bosomworth said. He added UK was "inappropriately optimistic" in predicting the time needed for construction.

The entire $1.6 million project now is not expected to be completed before May 1981, he said.

Researchers To Spend Year At UK

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Four Chinese coal researchers will spend a year working at the University of Kentucky Institute for Mining and Minerals Research in Lexington, state Commerce Commissioner Carroll Knickely said Tuesday.

The researchers are engineers at the Peking Central Coal Research Institute. James Funk, the institute director, said he does not know when the Chinese will arrive. He said they are currently trying to improve their English.

Knickely learned that the researchers would visit Kentucky during his two-week trade mission to the People's Republic of China earlier this month.

Season Openers

Barrett Says 1979 Could Be Russellville's Year

By TONY WILSON
Ledger & Times
Sports Editor

How important is a good start? Russellville coach Ken Barrett rates it right up there with fumble recoveries and 40-yard punts.

"This could be our year, if we can avoid the injuries and not get killed early in the year," said Barrett, who will begin his fourth year as head coach. His squad opens its season against Murray High at home Friday at 7:30 p.m.

"When you have to play schools like Murray and Franklin Simpson back to back early, it could be easy to be 0-2 really quick," Barrett said. Russellville High finally managed to get Class 4-A bully Bowling Green off its schedule, but eight of its 11 games are against team not in its Class A division.

In a preseason coaches poll, Russellville was picked to finish first in the First Region, and Murray High coach John Hina says he and his team respect that distinction.

"The first game is always tough, because no one knows how good anyone else is," Hina said. "I do know that they didn't lose many people, and their being picked to finish first tells me we're in for a whale of a game."

Barrett feels the nine senior starters on the Panther squad are all potential college prospects — especially 6-3, 236-pound tackle Greg Beard; 6-1, 175-pound safety Terry Reeves; and 6-foot, 198-pound center Hayden Pillow.

But a member of the Russellville roster that Murray High may have to contain is Bernard Bellamy, a 5-7, 155-pound junior. Last season, he rushed for over 1,100 yards, and Barrett says the running back can bench press 300 pounds. Hina, though, says his team's preparation doesn't include gearing for a particular member of the opposition.

"I'm not saying anyone their coach says is a good player isn't," he says. "But we're more concerned with the play of our team, and until a few weeks into the season, there is no way to determine who to watch out for."

Both Russellville (4-6) and Murray High (4-5) had off seasons last year, but both also endured a heady schedule. Murray lost to such notables as Mayfield, the Class AA state champion; Heath, a loser to only Mayfield; and Lake County (Tenn.), a team that finished 11-2 and owned two players talented enough to be recruited by Murray State.

Russellville's conquerors included Franklin County, Butler County (9-2 last year), Hancock County (9-2) and Trigg County. The last meeting between Murray, then also Class A, and Russellville came in 1974, a game the Tigers won 22-14.

Both coaches agree that Friday's contest should be defense-dominated, but Hina hopes the Tigers' two scrimmages help his offensive unit. "Last year, the only type of defense we saw before the season was in the Jamboree (discontinued this year), and we were already accustomed to it. But during the two scrimmages this year, we had some different things thrown at us. In the long run, that should help," he said.

Barrett feels the Panthers could be the best since he has coached at Russellville, and he hopes a slightly-improved schedule is enough to better his best season — 5-5 — at Russellville thus far.

"Murray, then Franklin-Simpson, then Fort Campbell (Class A state champs last year) — to have to open up with those three is enough to cause bad dreams," he said. "But if we're not too down after those games, we may have a winning record."

Union County, With Joiner, Is Lakers' First Foe

By TONY WILSON
Ledger & Times
Sports Editor

They enter the 1979 season at widely varying stages — Calloway County and Union County do — but both hope to get its Class AAA, Region 1 schedule off to the right start.

Union County, whose county seat is located in Morgantown,

Ky., recorded a fine 7-5 season last year, and coach Dick McDonald thinks his squad could better that mark. Calloway, though, will play the first varsity football game in its history.

When the two teams lock up Friday at 8 p.m. in Murray State's Roy Stewart Stadium, the Union County squad will outnumber Calloway 42-22, and Laker coach Stan Outland feels that factor, more than any other, will hurt his team.

"The numbers game may get us all year," he said yesterday. "When most of the players have to go both ways with little rest, fatigue is definitely going to set in."

Outland says the Union County game hasn't been discussed in terms of winning or losing. "That would be ridiculous at this state. We're going into it to do the best that we can. That's all we can do."

Union County owns two imposing running backs in Nelson Sosh and Tim Joiner. Sosh, a 6-0, 215-pound senior, is "very strong," says McDonald, while Joiner, a 6-1, 180-pound junior, rushed for over 900 yards last season and was named all-conference. In Union County's first-round tournament game last year against Franklin-Simpson — one it lost 17-7 — it's only score came on Joiner's 75-yard return of a kickoff.

Franklin-Simpson was, as usual, picked to win the First Region title by a preseason vote of high school coaches. Union County was picked second. "We could have a fine year if our offense comes around like I think it will," McDonald said. Among the 12 seniors that graduated at Union County last year was quarterback Reed White. His replacement will be either Steve Hina, a little-used senior, or Tinker Tucker, a junior who saw some action last year.

"That's definitely a question mark for us at this point," said McDonald. "I know we have the running backs, so that takes some of the pressure off the quarterback."

Junior Brad Bryan, who started on Calloway junior-varsity team most of last season, will open at quarterback for the Lakers. Joining him in the backfield will be Mike Shipwash, Tommy Workman and Shane Morton.

"We're awfully weak right now at some of the skill positions," Outland said. "Experience will take care of some of that problem. How much, though, I don't know."

McDonald, in his fourth year as head coach, enjoyed his best season in 1976, when Union County finished 8-4. "Franklin-Simpson will be tough, but we should give them a good run this year," he says.

Outland's thinking, though, is centered more around avoiding injuries to his squad and not having to limp into the Marshall County game the following week. "A few injuries to our key players would hurt us a great deal," he says. "We not only have to worry about the team we're playing, we have to make sure we can make it to the next game with enough players to field a team."

By Tony Wilson

Calloway County High football coach Stan Outland directed his team through a drill yesterday during a workout. He and the Lakers will make their varsity debut against Union County Friday night at Roy Stewart Stadium.

Hoosier's Knight Offers His Resignation After Court Rules Him Guilty Of Assault

By the Associated Press
INDIANAPOLIS — Hot-tempered, outspoken, and often surprising Bobby Knight is up to his neck in controversy again.

While Puerto Rico tried to decide whether to seek his extradition on an assault conviction, Knight offered to resign Wednesday as Indiana University's head basketball coach.

Knight was sentenced to six months in jail and fined $500 earlier Wednesday after he was found guilty of slugging a Puerto Rican policeman in the face during last month's Pan American Games.

"I offered my resignation at Indiana University because the university has to have the opportunity to do what it freely and clearly thinks is best for Indiana University," said Knight. "It isn't my desire to do anything other than coach basketball at Indiana University. That isn't mine to say."

Knight made his remarks in a telephone conversation with Indianapolis Star Sports Editor Bob Collins from an undisclosed location in Montana where he is vacationing.

Knight's sudden actions took everyone — including university officials by surprise.

"I really don't have any comment," said IU Vice President Edward Williams. "Any comment would have to come from the president (Dr. John Ryan). Resignations of coaches are the president's business, not mine."

Ryan could not be reached for comment. Williams would not say if he had spoken with Knight in the last few days.

Despite Knight's resignation offer, it was unlikely that university officials would accept it.

Knight was not present at his trial for the incident involving policeman Juan de Silva. District Court Judge Rurico Rivera postponed imposition of the sentence until Aug. 27.

A spokesman for the Puerto Rican Justice Department declined to comment on whether the government will try to extradite Knight. One department source said local authorities probably will not ask for his return to the island because he's not wanted there.

A spokesman for the office of Indiana Gov. Otis R. Bowen has said the governor "indicated he would not be willing to allow Bobby Knight to be extradited."

Under Puerto Rican law Knight was allowed to stand trial in absentia.

Pro Barber, Jones Assume Ky. Open Lead; Mudd 1 Back

By the Associated Press
LOUISVILLE, Ky. — A pro who "didn't hit a good iron shot all day" and an amateur who "just scraped it around" are tied for the lead at 141 and lead the pack by three strokes entering today's final round of the Kentucky Open Golf tournament.

Jack Barber of Lexington fired a par 72 while Vaughn Jones, who describes himself as "barely an amateur" had a one-under-par 71 in Wednesday's second round at the 6,600-yard Wildwood Country Club course here.

"I just didn't hit the ball as well as on Tuesday," Barber said, admitting he was tired. "I had 14 straight pars, a birdie on 15, bogey on 16 and pars on 17 and 18 today. My putting saved me." Barber was the opening-round leader with a 69.

Jones was unimpressed with his round — bogeys on 1 and 11 and birdies on 2, 3 and 17. His tee shot on No. 7 hit a tree, bounced around the branches and fell behind trees guarding a dogleg. Jones hit the ball over the trees, back onto the fairway and parred the hole. "Guess you could say I had plenty of wood on that ball," he quipped.

Jones said he plays "two or three times a week, but I'm going to start playing more." Jodie Mudd, Kentucky Amateur champion, recovered from an opening 74 with Wednesday's best score, a 68 that left him alone in second place.

"Yesterday (Tuesday) was kind of a dull day for me, but today started off better and I was hitting the greens," Mudd said. "I had five birdies and one bogey." Mudd added, noting that he felt more confident during the second round.

David Combs of Louisville had a 71 Wednesday for a 143 and was in third place.

Combs, who fell into a hole on the golf course after playing No. 4, said he was shaken up but not enough to hinder his game.

"There was a plywood cover over a manhole and I fell through it," Combs said. "I got a sore hand from it but it didn't bother me much." Combs said he "didn't hit the ball too good all day but it got in the hole and that's what counts."

Four players were tied at 144 — amateur Paul Ellington Jr., pro Mark Kemper and amateur Bill Etsorn, all of Louisville, and pro Larry Gilbert of Brandenburg. Ellington had a 70 on Wednesday, Kemper had a 72 and Etsorn and Gilbert each had 74s.

Pro Jack Freeman of Ashland and pro Bill Schooley of Russellville were tied at 146. Freeman had a 73, Schooley a 76.

Seven players were grouped at 147.

Watson Downplays Money As Pinehurst Classic Begins

By the Associated Press
PINEHURST, N.C. — Tom Watson tends to take the long view of golfing history.

He's well aware of the significance — and the lack of significance — in the money-winning record of $402,636 he's set already this season, a record that has other touring pros shaking their heads in wonder and admiration. But the thoughtful Watson keeps it in perspective.

"The money is nice, of course, but I don't place a lot of importance on records of that kind," he said before teeing off today in the first round of the defense of his title in the $250,000 Hall of Fame Golf Classic.

"The purses change so much that the money is not really a measure of your ability."

And as an example, he went to his friend and mentor, Byron Nelson.

"In 1945 he won (a record) 18 tournaments and was second in three others," Watson said. "He won $63,000. A record like that, 18 wins, what would that be worth with today's purses?" He paused and answered his own question. "Well over a million."

"So a comparison of my money with his money is not an adequate or accurate comparison of the seasons."

"In the end, when it's all over, you'll be remembered by the tournaments you won, the major tournaments you won, and the golf courses you won them on and your scoring average. Things like that."

Cothran Captures Oaks Club Match Competition

Don Cothran edged Truman Whitfield 2-and-1 to capture the championship of the recently-completed Oaks Country Club men's match play tournament.

Cothran had ousted Mickey Bogges in the semifinals. In the first flight, Charlie Hargrove knocked off Greg Story 2-up in the finals. Hargrove had advanced with a 2-and-1 triumph over Bill Seale.

Hal Kemp nipped Darren Hooper 1-up on the 19th hole for the second-flight title. Hooper defeated Jerry Ford in the semifinals, while Kemp had beaten Hub Dunn.

Hard-Throwing Astro

Richard Ups NL Strikeout Lead, Hurls Houston To Victory

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

J.R. Richard not only throws flames, he puts out fires.

One of baseball's hardest throwers, the Houston Astros' right-hander was sailing into the ninth inning against the New York Mets Wednesday with a five-hit shutout.

Then he gave up two hits and a run, and Houston Manager Bill Virdon started thinking about his bullpen. But he didn't bring anyone in, because he figured he didn't have anyone better for the immediate situation.

"I would not have used anybody else unless I thought J.R. was wild," Virdon said. "But he had good stuff, and I'd just as soon have him out there as anybody to get one out."

It turned out to be a good decision — Richard ended the game with a flourish by striking out his 10th batter and preserved a 3-1 victory for the National League West leaders.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

The game marked the ninth time this season that Richard had struck out at least 10 batters in a game, and boosted his NL-leading strikeout total to 232.

Elsewhere in the National League, Pittsburgh beat San Francisco 8-6; Los Angeles stopped Chicago 7-2; Atlanta trimmed Philadelphia 4-3; Cincinnati whipped Montreal 7-2 and St. Louis outscored San Diego 8-5.

Pirates 8, Giants 6 — Tim Lincecum's tie-breaking, two-run single with two out in the eighth inning led Pittsburgh over San Francisco. Ed Ott walked to open the inning, was sacrificed to second and then pinch-hitter Bill Robinson was intentionally walked. Both runners advanced on a grounder by Omar Moreno before Foli's line drive hit scored Ott and Robinson.

Dodgers 7, Cubs 2 — Ron Cey drove in three runs with a bases-loaded triple, and Joe Ferguson drove in two more runs with a solo home run and run-scoring double to lead Los Angeles over Chicago.

Braves 4, Phillies 3 — Gary Matthews drove in two runs and Gene Garber notched his 22nd save as Atlanta defeated Philadelphia. Winner Eddie Solomon, 5-10, allowed only two hits in six innings. But after walking Mike Schmidt leading off the Phillies' seventh, Solomon pulled a leg muscle and was replaced by Joey McLaughlin, who held the Phillies in check until the ninth, when the first two batters reached base.

Reds 7, Expos 2 — Johnny Bench became the Cincinnati Reds' all-time home run leader with a three-run, fourth-inning homer that paced the Reds over Montreal.

It was Bench's 15th home run of the season and his 325th as a Red, one more than Frank Robinson. Bench became the club's all-time RBI leader earlier this season.

Cardinals 8, Padres 5 — Ted Simmons belted his 21st homer and Keith Hernandez doubled twice and drove home two runs, helping St. Louis beat San Diego.

The Cardinals, aided by a Padres error, scored four times before loser Bob Ojeda, 4-8, retired a batter. Rookie John Fulgham posted his sixth victory in 10 decisions while scattering 13 hits.

Calabro Highlights Murray Runners Festival Competition

FULTON, Ky. — Glenda Calabro finished 23rd overall and won the women's division to highlight participation by Murray runners in the International Banana Festival 10,000 meter run last weekend.

Calabro, a former Murray State runner, ran the distance in 41:38. Others running with the Murray contingent included Ron Wuest (10th, 38:29), Danny McCaslin (12th, 38:37), Jim Calabro (13th, 39:09), Craig Robertson (18th, 40:34), Adam Lanning (30th, 43:22), Patty Doyle (68th, 52:40), Cindy Doyle (69th, 52:48), Bob Woods (71st, 54:16), Martin Mattingly (76th, 55:55), eight-year-old Scott Wuest (74th, 55:48), nine-year-old Stephanie Wuest (75th, 55:49), Susan Woods (81st, 60:10) and Cindy Milam (96th, 63:00).

107 finished the race.

Lemon Walks Back, Hits Sox To Triumph; Boston Rolls Behind Lynn, Rice

By FRANK BROWN
AP Sports Writer

Chet Lemon's one-day workout ended just as suddenly as it began — much to the chagrin of the Milwaukee Brewers.

Lemon, who walked out on the Chicago White Sox prior to Tuesday night's doubleheader, came back Wednesday night and slapped a tie-breaking eighth-inning single to give his team a 4-3 triumph and snap the Brewers' four-game winning streak.

"It was like a stage set — like a movie — me getting the winning hit after what happened," said Lemon, who walked out during batting practice, reportedly because he wasn't allowed to take his swings before Wayne Nordhagen and Alan Bannister. "It's a great feeling to come back and help the ball club win because I watched the guys lose a doubleheader here on television last (Tuesday) night."

AMERICAN LEAGUE

It was the Brewers' turn to be solemn after Lemon's hit drove in Lamar Johnson to snap a 3-3 tie and leave Milwaukee 6 1/2 games behind first place Baltimore — nine games in the loss column — in the American League's East Division.

In the other AL games, the Boston Red Sox downed the Minnesota Twins 9-4 in a rain-shortened contest, the Cleveland Indians blasted the California Angels 13-3, the Detroit Tigers trimmed the Oakland A's 3-1, the Kansas City Royals topped the New York Yankees 3-1, and the Seattle Mariners bested the Toronto Blue Jays 6-3.

Red Sox 9, Twins 4 — Jim Rice and Fred Lynn drove in runs to help Bob Stanley win his first game since the All-Star break as Boston pounded Minnesota in a game washed out after eight innings.

Indians 13, Angels 3 — Mike Hargrove, Rick Manning, Bobby Bonds and Toby Harrah had three hits each in the 18-hit Cleveland attack that buried the Angels.

By the Associated Press
BROOKLINE, Mass. — There's something about the U.S. Pro Tennis Championships at Longwood that spells health for Spanish star Manuel Orantes — physically and financially.

In 1977, the veteran arrived at Longwood after recuperating from elbow surgery and won the U.S. Pro title. He repeated here last year, before being forced out of the Grand Prix by knee trouble.

Now, Orantes is back for the 52nd annual U.S. Pro, claiming he's feeling well again and ready to try to join Rod Laver and Bjorn Borg as the only three-time winners in a row since Longwood salvaged the tournament from bankruptcy and a virtual parking lot in 1964.

"I had a little problem with my elbow for a while, and I wasn't playing well, not bad but not well," the 30-year-old southpaw said. "Now I feel good and I think I'm playing well again."

As defending champion, Orantes said, he felt an obligation to return to Longwood even though many of the world's top pros refused to enter because of a dispute between the club and the Association of Tennis Professionals. Since resolved, the dispute revolved around Longwood's refusal to replace clay courts with a hard surface.

A whiz on clay, Orantes made his debut here Wednesday night on the third day of the eight-day $175,000 tournament. He waited around since Monday for the arrival of scheduled first-round opponent Bob Hewitt.

However, Hewitt checked in with an ailing elbow and Orantes learned just before taking the court that his opponent would be 6-foot-5 Harry Fritz of Toronto.

"No, I didn't know him," Orantes said. "I had never even seen him. But a change in opponents doesn't bother professionals. I knew he had nothing to lose, so I didn't let up. When you're a pro, you try to win every game."

Orantes gave Fritz a tennis lesson, needing just 46 minutes for a 6-1, 6-1 victory. Orantes broke Fritz' service in the first game, but was broken right back. Orantes then took charge, losing only one game the rest of the way.

Indians started Dan Spillner, 8-3, gave up just five hits, including a solo homer by Rick Miller in the third and a two-run shot by Willie Mays Aikens in the ninth.

Tigers 3, A's 1 — Alan Trammell's third homer of the season, a two-run shot in the first inning, helped carry Detroit past Oakland.

Royals 3, Yankees 1 — George Brett drove in two runs to back the five-hit pitching of Larry Gura and carry Kansas City past New York.

Mariners 6, Blue Jays 3 — Larry Cox and Ruppert Jones each hit two-run homers to power Seattle past Toronto.

Straight-Man Summerall Complements Trabert In CBS' Broadcast Duo

By FRED ROTHENBERG
AP Sports Writer

CBS has a football player and a tennis player doing its U.S. Open tennis telecasts, but did you know that the football player once was tennis champion?

Pat Summerall, the former place-kicker for the New York Giants and now the unflappable voice on CBS' football, golf and tennis broadcasts, was Florida state tennis champion in 1947. And that's no slouchy tennis area, either. People like Chris Evert and Brian Gottfried also grew up among orange groves and tennis courts.

But if Summerall knows so much about tennis why does he have to ask his broadcasting sidekick, Tony Trabert, all those questions?

COMMENTARY

"He knows the answers but he just wants me to pursue the topic more," said Trabert. "Pat's the play-by-play man and I'm supposed to be the expert. He figures it would mean more coming from me. As a result, some people write in and call him a boob. But they just don't understand. "Pa plays the straight man. He does that on purpose. If his ego were such that he didn't want me to look very good, he could make that happen. But he's not worried about such things. You'll never hear us zing one another. We're both there to talk about tennis."

Summerall and Trabert, the American Davis Cup captain who won singles titles at Wimbledon and Forest Hills 24 years ago, are a perfect doubles team. Their style is relaxed with an emphasis on explaining techniques and strategies on the court. They don't trample over the action. They let the tennis do the talking.

The duo will be together for the seventh successive year when CBS begins 27 hours of live coverage and highlights starting next Wednesday night and ending Sunday, Sept. 9.

Summerall and Trabert are not from the kiss-and-tell school of broadcasting.

"I feel my basic job is to analyze what's going on," said Trabert. "I'm not up there to gossip, although we do try to drop in some information to better explain who the players are."

"If a producer says, 'We need more about the individual and less about the match,' I don't mind that. But I draw the line. If I know a player is married and running around with some dame, I won't mention it. But if a guy's wife is expecting and he's been calling home all the time and it's affecting his concentration, then I'll say so."

And you won't get any juicy bits from the world of mixed doubles from Summerall, either. "If I was told to do more gossip, I'd tell them to get somebody else to do it," he said.

As former athletes and current broadcasters, Summerall and Trabert can see both sides to the growing antagonism between some players and the press. For example, Jimmy Connors is notorious for not talking to newsmen, particularly after a loss. Vitas Gerulaitis, in recent months, has been hot and cold toward the media.

Wash. State Senior Harris Collapses, Dies

By the Associated Press
PULLMAN, Wash. — Washington State University senior Hayward Harris collapsed and died during a team football practice. He was 21.

Washington State Coach Jim Walden said Harris, a defensive tackle, was taking part in his first practice session and was involved in a non-contact, response drill when he collapsed.

Dealing With Depth

If Dallas Can Maintain Bench, Super Bowl Trip Is Possible

By HAL BOCK
AP Sports Writer

Depth is the measure of champions and if the Dallas Cowboys plan to return to the Super Bowl for a third straight year, they will have to come up with replacements at several key spots.

Dallas remains the best team in the National Football Conference, perhaps because the rest of the NFC is not all that strong.

Returning to the Super Bowl won't be as easy as it should be for a team with Dallas' lineup. But it's still the best in the conference and will be there when playoff time comes. Dallas, however, could have some new company.

The Cowboys' trip to Pasadena, Calif., and another Super Bowl will require eliminating Los Angeles — something NFC teams have always managed to do in the playoffs. — Atlanta, Philadelphia and Detroit. The improving Lions, in fact, could be the conference dark horses.

Here's a long-range look at how the NFC season should go:

EAST DIVISION Dallas Cowboys

The Cowboys are not without their problems. On defense, Too Tall Jones has decided to become a boxer and Jethro Pugh has chosen a less strenuous retirement, leaving two openings on the line. All Pro safety Charlie Waters was hurt in a preseason game and is likely to sit out a good portion if not the entire season. Running back Tony Dorsett also missed important training camp work because of an injury.

But the replacement parts are there. Larry Cole, who split playing time with Pugh last year, and Larry Bethea, a

No. 1 draft choice in 1978, step into the line. Veteran Randy Hughes will fill in for Waters at safety and handyman Preston Pearson and Scott Laidlaw will handle Dorsett's role.

Quarterback Roger Staubach, receivers Tony Hill and Drew Pearson, defensive end Harvey Martin, defensive tackle Randy White, and other talented players make it difficult to overtake the Cowboys.

Philadelphia will try. Coach Dick Vermeil's program could begin reaching fruition this season. All-America Jerry Robinson, the No. 1 draft, joins All Pro Bill Bergey at linebacker and the offense has some talented people like quarterback Ron Jaworski, running back Wilbert Montgomery and wide receiver Harold Carmichael.

In the Central Division, Detroit seems ready to replace Minnesota's perennial champions at the top.

Trial To Allow Nuclear Debate

MADISON, Ind. (AP) — A debate on nuclear power will be allowed at the trial of a demonstrator arrested during a protest at the Marble Hill nuclear power plant construction site, a judge has decided.

Selection of a six-member jury in County Court was scheduled today for the trial of Gardner Weber, 37, Evansville, charged with criminal trespassing.

Judge Fred Hoying's ruling Wednesday, opening the door for testimony on nuclear power in general, is expected to stretch the trial over several days.

Jefferson County Prosecutor Merritt Alcorn had asked the judge to exclude any testimony from witnesses not at Weber's arrest scene or directly involved in the arrest.

Alcorn had said earlier he would prosecute only Weber, and not the other 88 demonstrators arrested June 3, because he did not want to clog the court system and put nuclear power on trial.

Alcorn said Weber was singled out because of his arrest in an earlier demonstration at Marble Hill and because he had to be carried from the plant site.

Steve Richardson, a

Bloomington attorney for the antinuclear group Padwheel Alliance, argued during Wednesday's hearing Weber's defense was based on the need for the Marble Hill facility and its safety.

The trial of 31 demonstrators arrested last October ended in a hung jury and Alcorn chose not to retry that case.

In a related development, Rep. H. Joel Deckard, R-Ind., said a former worker at the Marble Hill site told him at least one test result on concrete strength in a safety-related area was changed to show the concrete met federal standards.

Deckard, who has requested a congressional investigation into construction defects at Marble Hill, said the former worker also reported he was told — but refused — to alter a test result. Deckard refused to identify the man.

Darrell Lanham, supervisor for U.S. Testing Co., which performed the tests at Marble Hill, said he had no knowledge test results were altered. He added there would be no reason to falsify results because U.S. Testing's job is only to evaluate concrete and provide information to Public Service Indiana, which owns the plant along the Ohio River near Madison.

PSI spokesman Brad Bishop said the utility was unaware of the charges and had no comment.

All work in safety-related areas — including the two nuclear reactor containment buildings — has been stopped since Aug. 8 because the NRC cited the utility for inadequate repairs of concrete flaws and for inadequate inspections.

Stern Warnings Issued To Iran's Minorities; Three Are Executed

By PHILIP DOPOULOS
Associated Press Writer
TEHRAN, Iran (AP) —

Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini issued stern new warnings to Iran's rebellious minorities today and told his own troops they will face revolutionary courts if they disobey orders to crush the uprisings. Three more executions also were reported, bringing the toll since February to 452.

Khomeini told the outlawed Kurdish Democratic Party and other "unclean" organizations, "If you surrender, hand in your weapons and join Islam, you will be forgiven. Otherwise, if you continue your efforts against the people, you will suffer the consequences."

Khomeini, for the second time this week, also said government troops "must obey their superiors, and if they don't they will be tried and punished. Military personnel are not permitted to hold strikes and those who do, will be considered counter-revolutionaries and will be sent to revolutionary courts."

Reliable sources have reported that some regular troops have been reluctant to move out against Kurdish insurgents in the rebellious western region, leaving revolutionary guardsmen to do the bulk of the fighting.

Khomeini declared in a message distributed by government media, "I order the revolutionary guards to cooperate with the regular army in crushing those creating disturbances, especially in Khuzestan and Kurdistan." Like the Kurds, ethnic Arabs in oil-rich Khuzestan province have been battling for autonomy.

Khomeini also said he had told Hassan Nazih, managing director of the National Iranian Oil Co., to give one day's oil revenues, about $65 million, to the people of Kurdistan. He didn't say how the money would be distributed but it was believed it would be spent on aid projects.

The latest executions occurred Wednesday in Qazvin, west of Tehran. The men were found guilty of drug-smuggling and plotting against Khomeini's Islamic Republic, government newspapers said.

Kurdish rebel leaders have accused Khomeini of mounting an all-out war to "annihilate the Kurdish masses" and charged his attempt to crush their fight for home rule is worse than the suppression suffered under Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi.

Tehran Radio reported 86 persons, including 11 government soldiers, killed in the past two days as the latest Kurdish rebellion boiled through the mountainous Kurdistan region.

"The only difference (between the two governments) is that during the Pahlavi regime, they did not kill innocent people so ruthlessly," Karim Hesami of the Kurdish Democratic Party charged Wednesday. The party was outlawed Sunday by Khomeini, Iran's fundamentalist Shiite Moslem leader, after days of bloody fighting between troops and rebels.

"The religious leaders should understand that they cannot silence the masses with their forces," Hesami said in a statement read over the telephone from the Kurdish town of Mahabad.

The first naval battle of the American Revolution was fought off Machias, Maine, in 1775.

British statesman Antony Eden was born in 1896.

Clay County Residents Fear More Violence May Result From Shooting

MANCHESTER, Ky. (AP) — Clay County residents fear more violence in the wake of a shooting that left three members of one family dead and three brothers of another family charged with murder.

"I'm related to both sides, so I'm caught right in the middle," said George Collins. "This is a terrible, terrible thing, and just plain ignorance is all you can call it."

The two sides to which he referred are the George W. Napier and A.T. Collins families, who have for years lived within a mile of one another in the Elk Creek area of Clay County.

In a shooting near the Napier home last Saturday, George Napier, his wife, Jesse, and their daughter, Phyllis DeZarn, were killed.

A.T. Collins, along with brothers Marion Casey and Bart, were charged with murder in connection with the three deaths. A.T. and Marion Casey Collins were wounded by gunfire. Their case is expected to be presented to the Clay County grand jury when it convenes early next month.

"I doubt this is the end of it," said one of the Napiers' nephews, who declined to identify himself. "Mama, papa, two kids — that's pretty awful."

Jerry Wayne Napier, a son of George and Jesse Napier, was shot to death in April and a fourth Collins brother, Dewey, received a 10-year prison term for manslaughter in connection with the killing.

A.T. Collins, the lone survivor of the Hyden mine disaster that killed 38 of his co-workers in December 1970, also was charged in connection with Jerry Wayne Napier's death. But the jury acquitted him.

A sheriff's deputy keeping watch outside the funeral home before services for the Napiers earlier this week said more trouble between members of the two families would be no surprise.

Nor are the Napiers and law enforcement officials the only ones concerned. An Elk Creek resident who described himself as friendly to both families said he wanted the killing to stop "because it don't make no sense."

"Killing's the last thing I'd resort to," he said. "There must be another way."

Other people are concerned about the image of their community and their county.

"People here are tired of the killing," said one. "They want some law and order, and they're concerned about the image outsiders are getting of us. All this is not very flattering."

Substitute Judge To Render Decisions On Clemency-For-Cash Trial

By BILL RAWLINS
Associated Press Writer

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The substitute judge in Tennessee's clemency-for-cash trial must decide next week not only if the trial can resume before the original jury — but whether he should hear it.

The government reminded Judge Gilbert Merritt on Wednesday that he has been active in Tennessee Democratic politics — and some people might consider him biased. The judge said he would not comment outside court.

The five men on trial include three former aides to ex-Gov. Ray Blanton, a Democrat. All are accused of selling reduced prison sentences for thousands of dollars before Blanton left office Jan. 17.

The case is in recess because Merritt's predecessor was felled by a heart attack. Aug. 3, Merritt, on the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, has scheduled arguments Monday and Tuesday on resuming the trial before the original jurors, who have been working at their regular jobs since Judge Charles G. Neese was stricken.

Even if the trial can pick up where it left off, Merritt has said testimony cannot resume before Sept. 4 — after Labor Day. If Merritt decides it cannot, a new jury must be picked. It took three days to choose the present jury from 150 panelists.

In motions filed to meet Wednesday's deadline, the government:

— Asked Merritt, before deciding whether to continue the case, to question jurors about possible prejudicial publicity to which they might have been subjected since Neese was hospitalized, including a reported offer to buy a juror.

— Opposed defense requests for the judge to reconsider motions, including those for mistrials, which Neese previously rejected. If Neese's rulings are reconsidered, the government said, Merritt then would be required to declare a mistrial.

Defense lawyers are on record against a mistrial because of Neese's illness, but have asked Merritt to reconsider motions, including motions for mistrials on other grounds, which Neese overruled. Wednesday, defense lawyers filed no new motions, but amended previous motions, including some alleging evidence was illegally obtained.

Defendants are T. Edward Sisk, Blanton's former legal counsel; Charles Benson, former extradition officer; Charles Frederick Taylor, once on Blanton's security staff; Dale Quillen, a Nashville lawyer, and William Thompson, a Chattanooga night club operator.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Joe Brown, in putting Merritt on formal notice that the public might consider him biased, stopped short of asking the judge to step off the case. Instead, it cited a federal law that calls for a judge to disqualify himself if his impartiality might be questioned.

Merritt, the notice said, once represented the state Democratic Executive Committee and served on a committee which screened candidates for Blanton's cabinet after the former governor was elected in 1974.

Schedules Only Cause of Confusion

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Busing of first-graders has begun in Jefferson County, but the only confusion on the first day of classes appeared to be over bus schedules.

First-graders are being bused under court order to achieve racial balance in the city-county system.

Most schools said that first-grade attendance was fairly good, though many parents drove their children to school instead of putting them on buses.

But at Shawnee Elementary School, Principal Roy Hargis said only about half of the anticipated 75 first-graders showed up. He said parents might have kept the children home the first day to see how well things went.

Ernest Grayson, superintendent of the system where court-ordered busing for desegregation began five years ago, said things went "exceptionally well" for the first day of school.

If he had to grade the system on its performance, Grayson said, he would give it "About an A minus."

"I think it went exceptionally well this morning as far as transportation, and students showing up."

He said the first-day systemwide enrollment of 92,710 — of which 22,691 are black — was about 90 percent of what school officials expected this school year.

For first-day enrollment, he said, "That's good."

No violent incidents were reported, in contrast to massive demonstrations and arrests that accompanied the opening of school for the first year of the busing program five years ago.

First-graders were not included in the busing program until this year; but the only protest reported was a march Tuesday night by about 150 people carrying candles and American flags.

The protesters marched through south Jefferson County to two schools, led by an orange former school bus bearing anti-busing slogans. Traffic was slowed on Preston Highway where the march took place, but police said there were no problems.

Dawson Orman, deputy superintendent for school operations, said "a very generous group of parents, a large number of them, have volunteered to make sure the children get to the proper places and reassure the youngsters."

Some of the parents rode buses while others were stationed at schools to greet the first graders on their first day.

There were some added security precautions. Orman said a number of monitors rode buses. "They've pulled some security guards out of high schools to put them on temporary duty and some desegregation monitors will wipe noses and dry eyes," he said.

Some children were left standing on corners Wednesday because of errors in printed bus schedules, and difficulty in getting through on school system bus information lines increased normal opening-day confusion.

At some formerly predominantly black elementary schools, principals said new bus runs were too long and might have to be changed.

Principal Matt Benningfield of a Byck School said some bus runs started at 7:35 a.m. and children were on the buses for an hour and 15 minutes.

But he said time might be cut from the runs by having children gather at central neighborhood pickup points. "We're hoping to cut it down to 45 minutes on the road," he said.

King School Principal William Horan said stops close together on some bus routes might be consolidated to speed up the rides.

John Wilhoit, assistant director of transportation, said bus routing problems plague the district every year and take a few days to solve.

Butler High Principal Herbert Hatfield called it "one of the best opening days we've ever had, and Lincoln Elementary Principal Roy

Lewis echoed, "Today was the best start we've ever had."

Principal Terry Brooks at Noe Middle School said a bus for special education students broke down and parents had to bring the children to school, but "Otherwise, it's pretty much a regular day. Smooth as silk — knock on wood."

Woman Hears Distress Signal Over CB Radio

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Delores Parrish arrived at work Wednesday morning to monitor emergency calls for Franklin County Emergency Assist when she heard an ocean distress call over her citizens band radio.

Accustomed to monitoring local information calls and accident reports, Mrs. Parrish said she was surprised to hear someone frantically saying, "May Day, May Day."

She was able to determine that three men were drifting in heavy seas on a 50-foot sport fishing boat off Panama, with one life-jacket between them and one man sick. They had been drifting since Tuesday.

After Mrs. Parrish realized they couldn't hear her, she called the U.S. Coast Guard in Louisville, then returned to her radio and heard the Coast Guard making contact with the crew. A Coast Guard spokesman said the U.S. Air Force reportedly sent an emergency boat out to look for the drifting vessel.

Mrs. Parrish said such long distance transmissions are rare, but can sometimes be heard when atmospheric conditions cause signals to "skip."

Person Needed For Commission Program

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The Kentucky Arts Commission is looking for someone with architectural training to serve in its artists-in-the-schools program.

A residency is available at Rowan County High School in Morehead for four months during the Spring Semester, according to program director Nancy Carpenter.

Representative's Travel Schedule Full

By JAY PERKINS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — If travel is broadening, Rep. James Scheuer may be one of the broadest-minded members of Congress after the current recess.

The New York Democrat's schedule of foreign travel this month reads like a road map of Asia, with stops in nine cities in seven countries during a three-week sojourn. Scheuer is one of at least 89 members of Congress — 73 representatives and 16 senators — traveling abroad at taxpayer expense during the month-long August recess.

That total is down from the 115 who went overseas during the April Easter recess.

The 89 traveling this recess are those members whose offices confirmed they were taking trips authorized by various committees. Other members had travel overseas authorized by committees but are not making the trips.

The actual total of tax-paid trips could be higher than 89. Some committees refused to give out information on their members' travel plans.

There were also indications some congressmen and some congressional staff members were becoming sensitive to publicity about the fact-finding trips.

Both the Senate Armed Services and Senate Intelligence committees declined to give any information about travel by their members.

And Jack Brady, chief of the House Foreign Affairs Committee staff, said, "These stories about travel really burn me up." He said members of his committee must travel overseas because "we oversee spending of billions of dollars in foreign aid."

The press is totally irresponsible in the way it handles these stories," he added.

A staff member of Rep. William Clay's office who identified himself as the Missouri Democrat's top aide refused to confirm or deny that his boss went to Japan, South Korea and Singapore for three weeks as scheduled.

It is impossible to determine how much the trips will cost taxpayers. But commercial air fares from the United States to the most popular stopover destinations — Peking, Moscow, Rome and Bangkok — total more than $100,000, if the number of lawmakers going to those vicinities is multiplied by coach fares to those cities. Multiple-stop trips add even more to the cost.

And using committee records of the amount of travel-time scheduled, daily expense allowances of $75 per day for the 89 congressmen on the road could add up to more than $55,000.

Premature Baby Listed Critical After Car Birth

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A premature baby, born by the glow of a cigarette lighter in a car en route to a Henderson hospital, was reported in critical condition today at Norton's Childrens Hospital here.

The story of Samuel Curtis Cowan's birth — involving three frantic sisters, a speeding car, and the child's arrival three months premature — began last Friday when Rena Cowan of Morganfield began experiencing contractions.

She was admitted to Community Methodist Hospital in Henderson, then was released Sunday afternoon.

"The doctor said he thought I'd deliver in few days, but it wouldn't be right away," she said.

She went back to Morganfield, where her sisters — Kay Fletcher of Madisonville and Donna Cusic of Morganfield — kept her company at her mother's apartment.

"At about 7:30, just as I was going upstairs to bed, the contractions started again," she said, and this time they were harder and closer together.

The sisters got her out to their mother's automobile, and Donna Cusic, herself eight months pregnant, took the wheel.

As it became evident that birth was imminent in the back seat, she pressed the gas pedal closer to the floor, and the trio drove the 20 miles along U.S. 60 to Henderson at speeds of 80 to 85 miles an hour.

Kay Fletcher, 27, in the back seat with Mrs. Cusic, said, "I'd like to say that I was real calm and knew just what I was doing, but the truth is I was scared to death. I guess Rena was the calmest one of us."

"As we went tearing down that highway we were honking the horn like crazy and the people we passed just honked back. Before long, here came our mother (Rosemary Lindsey) in a pickup truck behind us."

"She'd been gone at the time we'd left her apartment and then, when she found out what happened, hurried to catch up with us," Mrs. Fletcher said.

In the back seat, she said, "I was using a cigarette lighter for light. As soon as I saw the baby's head I put that out and worked in the dark."

In minutes, one pound, nine ounce Samuel Curtis was in her arms.

"Even though I have two kids of my own, I had to stop and think what to do," she said.

"He was so tiny it about killed me to spank him and make him cry, but I did it. His cry was as tiny as he was. Right after he was born, he started to choke and I cleaned out his mouth. Then he did just fine."

With the umbilical cord still intact, she cradled the infant next to her body until the car reached the emergency room entrance at Community

Methodist.

She said she did have time to notice where the baby was born, and "I did notice the time the baby was born."

"He was born in the middle of the intersection of Green and Washington streets, and the car's clock said 8:45."

On arrival at the hospital, the expectant Mrs. Cusic slid her own protruding stomach from behind the wheel, wobbled into the emergency room — and fainted.

She was all right, however. An obstetrician, Dr. C.J. McGruder, and a pediatrician, Dr. Fred Barnett, took over the care of Samuel Curtis.

"They said I'd done a fine job with him," said Mrs. Fletcher.

"Dr. Barnett said he's a little fighter," said Mrs. Cowan.

Mrs. Cowan said her other children, Elizabeth, 5, and Chastity, 3, were born under normal circumstances, and Sunday night's driver, Mrs. Cusic, said when her baby, expected around Sept. 24, arrives, "I hope it won't be anything like this. I just want a routine delivery."

Mrs. Fletcher said she will not take any chances on a second stint as an impromptu midwife. "I think I'm just going to stay in Madisonville until after Donna's is born."

'Likeable Hobo' Suspect Of Murdering Three Young Boys In Apartment

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — William "Freight Train" Guatney was a "likeable hobo," say two women who knew him. But the man now suspected of killing young boys hated to be called a bum.

"He was a strong man when he got mad," says Joan Schmidt, a mother of seven who allowed Guatney — a transient now charged with murdering three young boys — to sleep in a garage apartment from time to time. "My kids, I can say, really loved him."

Guatney, 57, is being held without bond in the Lancaster County jail at Lincoln, Neb. He is charged with killing two boys in Nebraska four years ago and with the murder in May of a Kansas boy. Police say he's also a suspect in the deaths of at least 12 other boys around the country.

Mrs. Schmidt, 42, and Carolyn Kuhl Royer, 65, said their image of the man nicknamed "Freight Train" was shattered this week. "He was a likeable hobo," Mrs. Schmidt said. "But don't call him a bum or a tramp. He didn't like the kids to taunt him with names."

Guatney enjoyed wine, drank often, and said he was adopted and raised in Neosho Falls, Kan., until he ran away at 14, she said. The itinerant livestock handler "always was polite and seemed to love children," said Mrs. Royer.

Henderson Reduces Amount Of Sulfur Dioxide In Air

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The city of Henderson has reduced the amount of sulfur dioxide in its air to an acceptable level, state Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Secretary Frank Harscher said Tuesday.

He said Henderson achieved compliance with state air quality standards because of the city power plant's decision to begin burning low-sulfur coal, thereby reducing sulfur dioxide emissions.

Attorney General Asks For Help In Consumer Protection

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Kentucky Attorney General Robert Stephens has asked anyone who ordered merchandise but has not received it from two Chicago-based mail order companies to contact his office.

Stephens said J.C. Whitney and Co. and Warshawsky Co. have left an unknown number of Kentuckians with cancelled checks and no merchandise. The two companies filed for bankruptcy June 25.

The Attorney General's consumer protection division is working with the clerk of Chicago's Bankruptcy Court, but a division spokesman said it is not known whether consumers can expect total recovery of their losses.

Legislation Pre-Filed To Make County Attorneys Full Time Prosecutors

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Legislation was pre-filed Wednesday for the 1980 General Assembly that would make county attorneys full-time prosecutors, paid the same as circuit judges.

The bill's sponsor, Rep. Harold DeMarcus, R-Stanford, said it would allow a county attorney "to devote his full efforts to his job without the distractions of a private law practice."

Attorneys in larger counties would have assistants to help with heavier caseloads, while attorneys in smaller counties might be assigned as special prosecutors in other counties that need additional help, DeMarcus said.

The bill would eliminate commonwealth's attorneys, DeMarcus said. "Our system of justice does not need dual prosecution, a system which, in most of our counties, allows someone from outside the county to decide what will be done with the most serious criminals."

"This legislation will make for a more unified prosecutorial system, eliminate the need for the taxpayers to support more than one prosecutor in their county, and give the people a stake in the operation of their own criminal justice system," he said.

NOTICE

Notice of Finding no Significant Effect on the Environment and Notice To Public of Request for Release of Funds.

City of Murray Community Development Block Grant Small Cities Program

Applicant: City of Murray
Community Development Agency
City Hall
Murray, Kentucky 42071
(502) 753-1225

To all interested agencies, groups, and persons:

On or about September 6, 1979, the City of Murray, Kentucky will request the US Department of Housing and Urban Development to release Federal funds under Title I of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974 (PL 93-383) to be used for the following project:

PROJECT: North Douglas Community Revitalization Project
PURPOSE: Revitalization of the Douglas neighborhood will involve the rehabilitation of private properties, provision of adequate public facilities, and the acquisition and clearance of structures whose rehabilitation is economically infeasible.

LOCATION: City of Murray, Calloway County, Kentucky
ESTIMATED COST: First year cost $500,000. This is a two year program.

It has been determined that such request for release of funds will not constitute an action significantly affecting the quality of the human environment and, accordingly, the City of Murray has decided not to prepare an Environmental Impact Statement under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (PL 91-190). The reasons for such decision not to prepare such Statement are (1) No adverse effects were found in the project, and (2) The project will benefit the area as well as the entire community.

An Environmental Review Record respecting the project has been made by the City of Murray which documented the environmental review of the project and more fully sets forth the reasons why such Statement is not required. This Environmental Review Record is on file at the above address and is available for public examination and copying, upon request, at the Murray Planning Office, City Hall, between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m., Monday through Friday.

No further environmental review of the project will be made prior to requesting release of funds.

All interested agencies, groups, or persons having questions or comments concerning this notice and these activities are invited to submit them in writing for consideration by the proper officials at the address given below. Such comments should be received at the specified address on or before September 6, 1979. All such comments so received will be considered and the City of Murray will not request the release of Federal funds or take any administrative action on the project prior to the date specified in the preceding sentence.

The City of Murray will undertake the project described above with Block Grant Funds from the U. S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), under Title I of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974. The City of Murray is certifying to HUD that the City of Murray and Mayor Melvin B. Henley, in his official capacity as Mayor, consent to accept the jurisdiction of the Federal Courts if an action is brought to enforce responsibilities in relation to environmental reviews, decision making, and action, and that these responsibilities have been satisfied. The legal effect of the certification is that upon its approval, the City of Murray may use the Block Grant funds, and HUD will have satisfied its responsibilities under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969. HUD will accept an objection to its approval of the release of funds and acceptance of the certification only if it is on one of the following bases:

- (A) That the certification was not in fact executed by the Chief Executive Officer or other officer or applicant approved by HUD; or
- (B) That applicant's Environmental Review Record for the project indicates omission of a required decision finding or step applicable to the project in the environmental review process; or
- (C) That with respect to a property listed on the National Register of Historic Places, or found to be eligible for inclusion in such Register, and which is affected by the project, but no opportunity was given to the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation or its Executive Director to review the effect of the project on the property in accordance with the procedures set forth at 36 CFR Part 800; or
- (D) That another Federal agency acting pursuant to Section 102 (2) of NEPA and implementing regulations, has submitted a written finding to HUD that the applicant's project is unsatisfactory from the standpoint of public health or welfare or environmental quality.

Objections must be prepared and submitted in accordance with the required procedure (24CFR Part 58), and may be addressed to HUD at P. O. Box 1044, 539 River City Mall, Louisville, KY 40201. Objections to the release of funds on bases other than those stated above will not be considered by HUD.

No objections received after September 22, 1979 will be considered by HUD.

Chief Executive Officer
Melvin B. Henley, Mayor
City Hall
Murray, KY 42071

Deaths and Funerals

Mrs. Smotherman Dies This Morning At Local Hospital

Mrs. Ollie (Joyce McNeely) Smotherman of 1416 Vine Street, Murray, died this morning at six o'clock at the Murray-Calloway County Hospital. She was 82 years of age.

The Murray woman had been a member of the Oak Grove Baptist Church for about 65 years. Born Aug. 26, 1896, in Calloway County, she was the daughter of the late A. Y. McNeely and Anna Clark Glover McNeely. One son, the Rev. Harold Smotherman, died June 28, 1978.

Mrs. Smotherman is survived by her husband, Ollie, to whom she was married on Sept. 17, 1914; three sons—Eldridge Smotherman, Troy, Mich.; Johnny Smotherman, Murray, and Wrenn Smotherman, Coldwater, Mich.; three brothers—Irma and Arland McNeely, Indianapolis, Ind., and Crawford McNeely, Lynn Grove.

Also surviving are nine grandchildren, seven step grandchildren, eight great grandchildren, and five step great grandchildren.

Funeral and burial arrangements are incomplete, but friends may call at the Max Churchill Funeral Home after 1 p.m. on Friday.

Funeral Is Today At Spring Creek For Jesse Crouse

Funeral services for Jesse Crouse of Murray Route 2 are being held today at 3 p.m. at the Spring Creek Baptist Church where he was a member with the Rev. Gregg Burton and the Rev. Dr. Jerrell White officiating. Dwight Brinn will direct the singing by the church choir with Wynona Brinn as pianist.

Serving as pallbearers are Sam Calhoun, R. C. Miller, Thomas Lee, Danny Cunningham, J. D. Jones, and Wes Fulton. Burial will follow in the church cemetery with the arrangements by the Max Churchill Funeral Home.

Mr. Crouse, 69, died Wednesday at 6:32 a.m. at the Murray-Calloway County Hospital. He was a retired farmer and carpenter. Born Jan. 15, 1910, in Calloway County, he was the son of the late Henry Taylor Crouse and Gussie Cleaver Crouse. His wife, the former Rachel Marshall, died Aug. 29, 1977.

He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Max (Wanda) Bailey, Murray; two sisters, Mrs. Novella Chambers, Murray Route 2, and Mrs. Lorene Morton, Pasadena, Calif.; three grandchildren; two great grandchildren.

Sub District UMYF To Meet Thursday At Brooks Chapel

Murray Sub District United Methodist Youth Fellowship will meet Thursday, Aug. 23, at 7 p.m. at the Brooks Chapel United Methodist Church, located east of Dexter off Highway 1346.

Billy Joe Lovett will show slides of his summer mission work in Hayti, and Doug McKinney and Alex Dowdy will present special music.

Mary Denny, president, urges all members and interested persons to attend.

Crawford Armstrong Dies At Hospital; Funeral On Friday

Crawford Armstrong of Murray Route 7 died Wednesday at 7:45 p.m. at the Murray-Calloway County Hospital. He was 67 years of age.

The deceased was a retired farmer and a member of the Williams Chapel Church of Christ. Born Feb. 8, 1912, in Calloway County, he was the son of the late Galen Elbert Armstrong and Edna Earl Norman Armstrong.

Mr. Armstrong is survived by his wife, Mrs. Molena Adams Armstrong, Murray Route 7; one daughter, Mrs. Kenneth (Peggy) Geurin, Murray Route 5; four sons—Bobby, Donald, and Ronald Armstrong, Murray Route 7, and Jerry Armstrong, Mayfield Route 7; half sister, Mrs. Otis (Ellie) Dunnaway, Farmington Route 1; nine grandchildren.

The funeral will be held Friday at 2 p.m. at the chapel of the Max Churchill Funeral Home with Ed Davis and the Rev. Mike Little officiating.

Active pallbearers will be Kelvin and Marlin Morris, Jack Cochran, Steve Rowland, Cliff McCollon, and James Henry Armstrong. Honorary pallbearers will be Glen and Donald Crawford, Lencie Morris, and Luther Suggs. Burial will follow in the Salem Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home after 6 p.m. tonight (Thursday).

The Murray Club has grown from twenty-five members in October 1978 to thirty-two members as of August 1979. Mrs. Opal Roberts will be the only female Civitan Club president in Kentucky during the 1979-80 year of clubs that have both male and female members.

David Kratzer Named Student Center Head; Replaces Clyde Stunson

David Kratzer, a native of Springfield, Ill., has been named director of the Student Center at Murray State University, succeeding Clyde Stunson, who resigned to accept a position in New York State.

Kratzer, 31, comes to the

campus from Evansville, Ind., where he was director of the McCurdy Alumni Memorial Union at the University of Evansville.

Previously, he had been an assistant and acting director of student activities at Western Illinois University, Macomb, from which he received his undergraduate degree in recreation and park administration in 1970. In 1971, he was awarded a master's degree in recreation from the University of Illinois.

Kratzer currently is directing the activities in the temporary Student Center, formerly the University School, at Murray State. He also is involved in the planning, development and scheduling of activities to take

The public is invited to attend, a spokesman said.

INTERNATIONAL UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Arab opposition today apparently doomed an attempt by the United States to head off a Security Council vote on a resolution calling for creation of an independent Palestinian state.

The council was scheduled to meet this afternoon for debate on the resolution, and a vote was expected Friday. The United States was certain to veto it, fulfilling a commitment to Israel.

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini issued stern new warnings to Iran's rebellious minorities today and told his own troops they will face revolutionary courts if they disobey orders to crush the uprisings. Three more executions also were reported, bringing the toll since February to 452.

WASHINGTON WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter is visiting the scene of America's most famous whitewashing — Hannibal, Mo., home of Samuel Clemens and the fence Tom Sawyer conned his pals into painting.

Today's activities mark the next-to-last scheduled stop on the first family's seven-day cruise on the Mississippi riverboat Delta Queen.

WASHINGTON (AP) — At least 89 members of Congress — 73 representatives and 16 senators — are traveling abroad on official duty at taxpayer expense during the month-long August recess.

...THE NEWS IN BRIEF...

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal officials say U.S. emergency shipments of heating oil and kerosene to Iran were at least partly designed to maintain the good will of that oil-rich nation.

NATIONAL PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — A man who claimed he was carrying a bomb, commandeered a United Airlines 727 en route to Los Angeles and forced the airliner, with 119 persons on board, to fly back to Portland, where he surrendered early today, the FBI said.

All aboard the plane, which carried 112 passengers and seven crew members, left the aircraft unharmed, the FBI said.

JESSUP, Md. (AP) — Seven escaped inmates of the Maryland House of Corrections were captured early today as authorities hunted for 26 others who broke out of the prison in the second-largest jailbreak in Maryland history, state police said.

DENVER (AP) — A gang of Hispanic youths armed with clubs and a hammer attacked a Vietnamese man and smashed the windows out of his car as new violence flared in a housing project where tensions between the ethnic groups have caused refugee families to flee, police said.

State Of Delaware Drops All Charges Against Rev. Pagano; Clouser Confesses

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — The state of Delaware today dropped all robbery charges against the Rev. Bernard T. Pagano, a Roman Catholic priest who was on trial as the alleged "Gentleman Bandit." His trial had been halted Monday when another man admitted involvement in the holdups.

Ronald Clouser, of Brookhaven, Pa., pleaded guilty before Superior Court Judge Andrew D. Christie to three charges of second-degree robbery in connection with three of the holdups which occurred in northern Delaware earlier this year.

"He feels compelled for moral reasons to enter the pleas," said Marsha Kramarck, a public defender appointed to Clouser's case. But under the terms of the prosecution action, if any further evidence comes up against Pagano, he can be charged again and retried in connection with the holdups. The proceedings were conducted outside the presence of the jury.

State prosecutors offered their apologies to Pagano, who had no immediate comment.

"The defendant wishes to plead guilty because he is guilty," he wishes to right a wrong," said Saul Segal, Clouser's attorney in Pennsylvania, where Clouser had earlier pleaded guilty to three other armed robberies.

As part of Clouser's plea agreement, the state of Delaware said it would not proceed with any other possible charges against Clouser.

There were five armed robberies and one attempt attributed to the Gentleman Bandit, so named because he was polite and well-dressed.

Governor, Wife Fly To Florida For Vacation

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Gov. and Mrs. Julian Carroll flew to Florida Tuesday to vacation at the Bal Harbour home of Lexington horseman Brownell Combs, the governor's office said.

The governor and his wife were to travel to and from Miami on a state airplane, returning to Frankfort Sunday morning.

The Carrolls are scheduled to leave Sunday afternoon for the Midwestern Governor's Conference.
